Miller Mountain

Introducing Wyoming County's First STATE FORESTLAND

Just south of Tunkhannock lies Miller Mountain, a sprawling standalone peak that rises more than 2,000 feet above town. The mountain's history is almost as impressive as its sheer size. It has been farmed, logged, and even considered for a ski resort, a plan that ultimately failed in the 1980s.

Now, the mountain is beginning a new chapter as public land. In fall 2023, the Pennsylvania Department of Conservation and Natural Resources (DCNR) announced that Miller Mountain would become part of the Pinchot State Forest. The state partnered with The Conservation Fund and Williams to purchase the 2,500-acre property.

District Forester Nicholas Lylo described Miller Mountain as the gateway to the Endless Mountains. "As you come up Route 29 and enter into the river valley of Tunkhannock and Eaton Township, it's the first real landmark that greets you," he explained.

A year earlier, Wyoming County welcomed its first state park at Vosburg Neck. The new state forestland at Miller Mountain marks another key milestone for outdoor recreation in the Endless Mountains.

"As I was walking down the main street of Tunkhannock, I could see that Miller Mountain forms the backdrop of the town," recalled Kyle Shenk, Northeast Regional Director of

The Conservation Fund. "In my mind, that's an important piece of the character of the town and the sense of place that you get while you're there."

The property is currently open for passive recreation such as walking, hiking, biking, birdwatching, hunting, and fishing. All state forest rules and regulations apply (visit dcnr.pa.gov/StateForests/RulesAndRegulations for details). Visitors should make sure to respect private property, which borders the mountain on all sides.

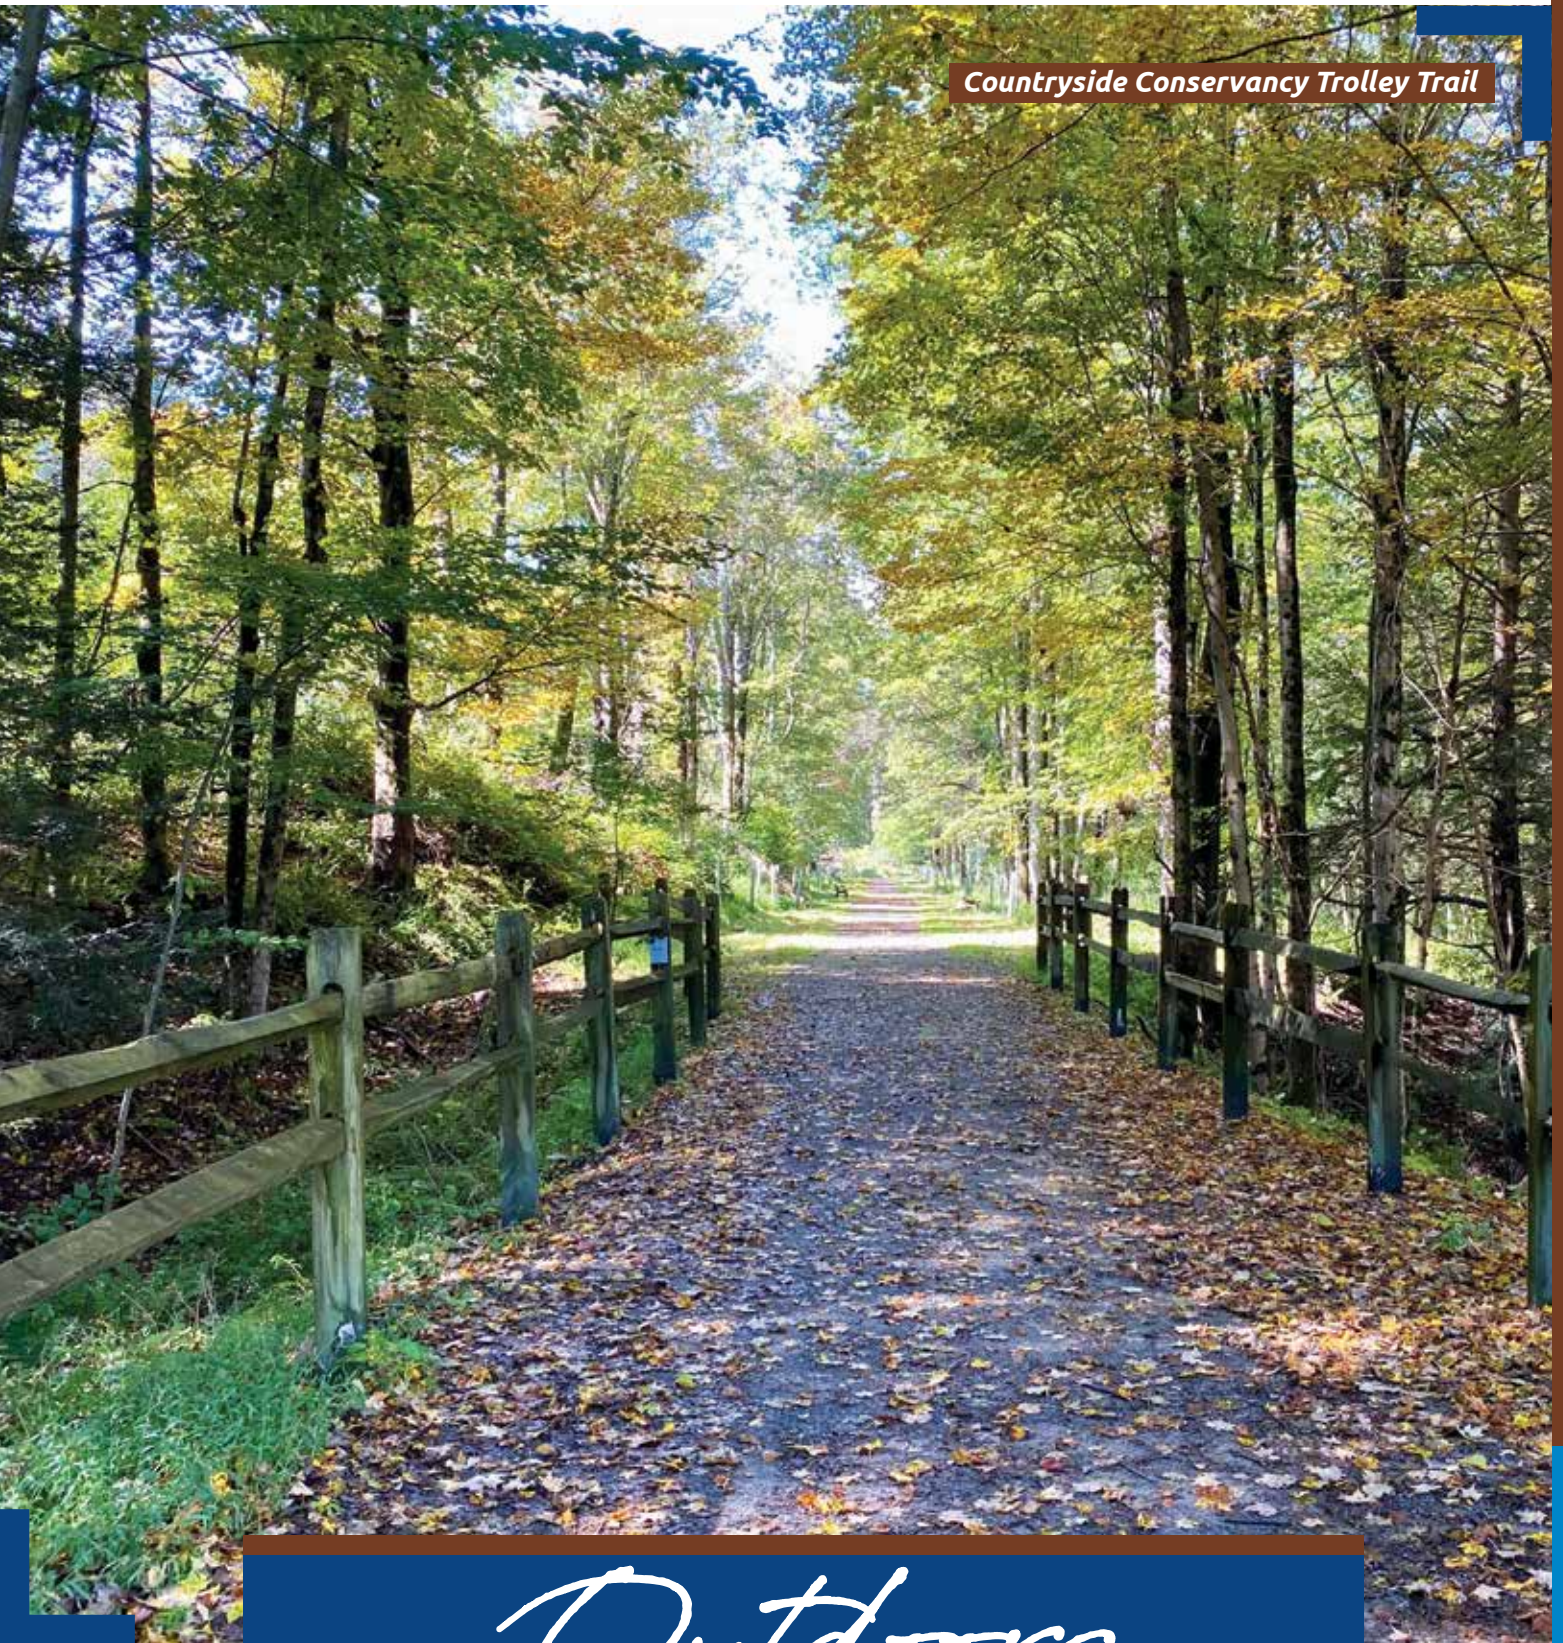

The Bureau of Forestry is still in the early stages of establishing boundary lines and assessing the mountain's resources. As of winter 2024, trail maps, designated parking lots, and other amenities are not yet available. However, there are existing, unblazed logging paths that lead to breathtaking vistas.

"It's really a 'choose your own adventure' kind of place right now, which I think is exciting for some people and might be a little bit out of the comfort zone for others," said Shenk. "But there are places right on the edge that have beautiful views. You don't have to go deep into the woods to enjoy the property."

As access expands over the next few years, Miller Mountain has the potential to become a premier outdoor destination. For updates on the property, please visit DCNR's website at dcnr.pa.gov.

NICHOLSON Tourism Center

A New Beginning for a Historic Train Station

Decades before the Tunkhannock Creek Viaduct rose to fame, another local landmark was at the heart of Nicholson. The Historic Delaware, Lackawanna & Western (DL&W) Railroad Station was once a hub for freight and passengers. It even served as the town's post office for many years.

Now, the building has a new life as the Nicholson Tourism Center. Renovated and maintained by the Nicholson Heritage Association, the building houses artifacts and exhibits that tell the story of a small town that shaped Northeastern Pennsylvania's railroading history.

History of the Station

The train station was originally built in 1849 by the Liggett's Gap Railroad, a predecessor to the DL&W. It was the first station on the line from Scranton to Great Bend. The station became a bustling place that connected the little town of Nicholson to the wider world. In the railroad's heyday, passengers could catch direct trains to Hoboken, Binghamton, Buffalo, and Oswego. In the freight area, local farmers shipped goods like apples, milk, and cheese to market, while trains brought crucial supplies into town. It was so esteemed that the first telephone line in Northeastern Pennsylvania ran between the Nicholson station and the DL&W station in Scranton.

Back then, the original rail line followed what is now Route 11. The railroad was notorious for its steep grades, sharp curves, and dangerous road crossings. "Pusher" locomotives were always ready and waiting in Nicholson to move heavy, loaded trains out of the valley.

To make the route safer and more efficient, the DL&W built an improved rail line called the Clarks Summit-Hallstead Cutoff. Part of the plan was to construct two massive concrete bridges: the Tunkhannock Creek Viaduct in Nicholson and the Martins Creek Viaduct in Kingsley. In 1915, the famous "Nicholson Bridge" opened, and the passenger service moved to a new station at the top of the hill. Meanwhile, the original station continued to handle freight.

ORIGINAL STATION

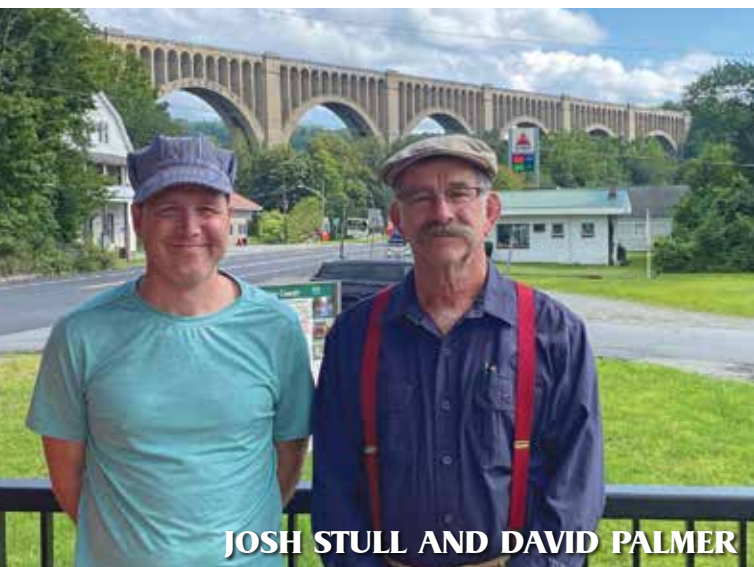

Saving a Piece of the Past

Over time, the railroad industry declined in Northeastern Pennsylvania. The station ultimately closed in 1971, and a local business bought it for storage space. However, the Nicholson Heritage Association realized that the station was a priceless piece of the town's history. In 2012, they purchased the property with a Pepsi Refresh grant and donations from countless individuals and local businesses.

"If the Heritage Association hadn't had the opportunity to purchase it, I think it would have eventually just deteriorated to nothing," said Josh Stull, vice chair of the Nicholson Heritage Association. "It's more than 170 years old. How many train stations—and even buildings themselves—still exist that are that old?"

Renovating a historic building was no easy task. It took eleven years to bring the station back to its former glory. In July 2023, the Nicholson Tourism Center at the Historic DL&W Station officially opened to the public.

Instead of cargo loads, the freight room now contains artifacts from Nicholson's history. Visitors can browse through exhibits about the railroad and the viaduct, admire the collection of Lenape arrowheads that were found near Tunkhannock Creek, or check out the original working scale.

JOSH STULL AND DAVID PALMER

In the old office area, guests can get a glimpse of the day-to-day life of a station agent. An original desk is still there, donated by the family of former station agent Elmer Sweppenheiser.

The passenger area truly captures the elegance of the era. Visitors can step up to the original ticket window or take a seat on the massive replica bench where people would wait for their trains. From the landing, you're treated to a view of the viaduct as it arches over the town. If you're lucky, you might even see a train chugging along.

Visit the Nicholson Tourism Center

For railroad enthusiasts, the station is a must-see stop, especially since it's so close to other attractions in Northeastern Pennsylvania. Steamtown National Historic Site, the Electric City Trolley Museum, the Anthracite Heritage Museum, the Lackawanna Coal Mine Tour, historic Honesdale, and the D&H Gravity Railroad Museum are less than an hour away from Nicholson.

"Everything is connected because of the history of the railroad," explained Stull. "Go east of here on the Viaduct Valley Scenic Byway, and you can see the Starrucca Viaduct. You can travel nine miles north and see the Martins Creek Viaduct."

The Nicholson Tourism Center at the Historic DL&W Railroad Station is located at 21 Lackawanna Trail (Route 11) in Nicholson. The station is open seasonally on weekends. Visit nicholsonheritage.org or @nicholsonheritage on Facebook for operating hours and special events.

The Nicholson Tourism Center would not have been possible without the support of the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation, the Pennsylvania Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, the Endless Mountains Heritage Region, the Endless Mountains Visitors Bureau, Wyoming County Commissioners, the Tom E. Dailey Foundation, the Pepsi Refresh grant program, and donations from countless individuals and businesses.

AN ENDLESS MOUNTAINS Christmas

Horse-drawn carriage rides, old-fashioned tree lightings, and family trips to the Christmas tree farm might sound like scenes from a holiday movie, but they're all part of the real-life winter wonderland in the Endless Mountains. Our region's historic towns and charming rural communities are where Christmas traditions come to life.

From Thanksgiving through New Year's, you'll find festive fun for the entire family. Experience the holiday magic at festivals like Tunkhannock's Christmas in Our Hometown, Christmas in Dushore, the Factoryville Christmas Market, and Christmas in Montrose. Drive through the dazzling Festival of Lights display at Stone Hedge Golf Course. Cozy up to your favorite holiday films during the Dietrich Theater's 12 Movies of Christmas. And don't forget to wrap up your holiday shopping at our small, locally owned shops.

Come experience the nostalgia and wonder for yourself. Our "An Endless Mountains Christmas" brochure lists dozens of holiday events, activities, and deals. Brochures are available in the fall.

Small Towns BIG ART

The Butterfly Project Mural

Location: Rear of Greenwood's Furniture,
61 East Tioga St., Tunkhannock

Artists & Contributors: Bob & Lavona Daniels, Gail Long, Peg Morris, Merriel Oliver, Carlos Penedos, Marta Kovacs-Ruiz, Michelle Thomas, & the Monsey Family

Tunkhannock resident Merriel Oliver dreamed about turning Tunkhannock into a "butterfly town," not only to raise awareness about the importance of pollinators but also to encourage ecotourism, art, and events in the community. In a grassroots effort, she gathered a group of community members who called themselves "The Butterfly People." Each person brought their talents and vision to the mural, which depicts swallowtail butterflies in a field of colorful flowers.

Dushore's 150th Anniversary

Location: 220 Water St., Dushore

Artist: Karen Black

This mural was completed in 2009 to celebrate the 150th anniversary of Dushore's incorporation. Sullivan County artist Karen Black painted it on nine separate boards, each three feet by ten feet. Every panel shares pieces of Dushore's history with many hidden stories along the way.

"I've always loved history, so I spent many hours at the local museum looking at photos and talking to people who remembered certain decades," said Black. "I love challenges that murals bring. Each one has its own unique hurdles to conquer and a unique message for the viewers."

Factoryville: Hometown of Christy Mathewson

Location: College Ave. & Maple St., Factoryville

Artist: Unknown

Six panels honor legendary pitcher Christy Mathewson, who was born in Factoryville in 1880 and attended Keystone Academy (now Keystone College). He went on to play professional baseball for the New York Giants and the Cincinnati Reds and became one of the first inductees to the Baseball Hall of Fame. The mural includes fascinating stats from Mathewson's baseball career.

Forest City Trail Town Mural

Location: 503 Main St., Forest City

Artist: Jeff George

This 1,800-square-foot mural welcomes visitors to Forest City, a charming town along the D&H Rail-Trail. It portrays many of the animals that you may see around the Greater Forest City area, while hikers and cyclists give a nod to the town's boundless outdoor recreation opportunities.

Murals of the Endless Mountains

With our breathtaking scenery and rich heritage, it's no wonder the Endless Mountains have inspired larger-than-life artwork. Check out these spectacular murals as you explore our communities.

In the Moment (Of Then and Now)

Location: Lobby of the Mattern Building, 7406 Route 487, Mildred

Artist: Cat Badger

Cat Badger has painted murals throughout the country, but her recent project brought her home to Sullivan County.

"Whether you were born here, are a new resident, or just visiting, I think this mural has a lot to offer," said Badger. "My hope is that it continues to provide recognition to prior generations, inform younger people, generate curiosity, and inspire other artists to do the same."

The mural acts like a timeline, beginning with early industries such as coal mining, lumbering, and railroading. The middle portion shows scenes from the Keystone State Shoe Company, the original tenant of the Mattern Building. The final section displays landmarks like Ganoga Falls at Ricketts Glen State Park, the Forksville Covered Bridge, and the sign at Worlds End State Park.

Sullivan County Wildlife Display

Location: Lobby of the Sullivan County Courthouse, 245 Muncy St., Laporte

Artist: Karen Black, assisted by student Hayden Baumunk

When the Mokoma Inn was demolished, the Sullivan County Courthouse preserved the hotel's collection of mounted animals. Over time, however, the display needed some TLC. Local artist Karen Black created a new mural of the Loyalsock Creek to replace the original backdrop from 1940. Taxidermist Nancy Craft restored the animals, some of which are over 100 years old. Forty-two different species are included in the collection, and even more flora and fauna are painted into the mural. If you're up for a challenge, see how many painted animals you can find!

Sunflower

Location: East Tioga & Bridge St., Tunkhannock, PA

Artist: Leigh Pawling

Located at Tunkhannock's main intersection, a cheerful sunflower and colorful butterflies welcome visitors into town. Look closely, and you'll notice the mural mirrors the sunflower pattern on the building's original cornice.

Artist Leigh Pawling worked with building owner Carlos Penedos to create this stunning focal point.

"He had a huge scaffolding, which hid the entire building so I would climb up and down to first draw the outline of the flower and then paint it using a grid method," recalled Pawling. "It was so exciting because there was a true unveiling of the mural when the cover and scaffolding came down."

Telling Wyoming County's History

Location: Dietrich Theater, 60 East Tioga St., Tunkhannock

Artist: Bob Lizza

The Dietrich Theater's mural project captures the area's heritage and scenery. On the back of the theater, two massive murals depict the famous Tunkhannock Creek Viaduct. Tunkhannock artist Bob Lizza used a trompe l'oeil (or "trick of the eye") effect to make the mural look three-dimensional, as if you could step right into the scene. The side of the theater features a panoramic view of the Vosburg Neck, a majestic oxbow bend in the Susquehanna River. The mural was completed in 2021, about a year before Vosburg Neck was named one of Pennsylvania's newest state parks.

FUN ON THE FARM

PICK YOUR OWN
FLOWERS, FRUIT, AND VEGGIES
IN THE ENDLESS MOUNTAINS

Our you-pick farms welcome you to head out to the fields and harvest fresh produce straight from the source. After all, nothing beats a carton of sweet berries on a hot summer day, a handpicked bouquet of flowers, or a plump pumpkin from the patch.

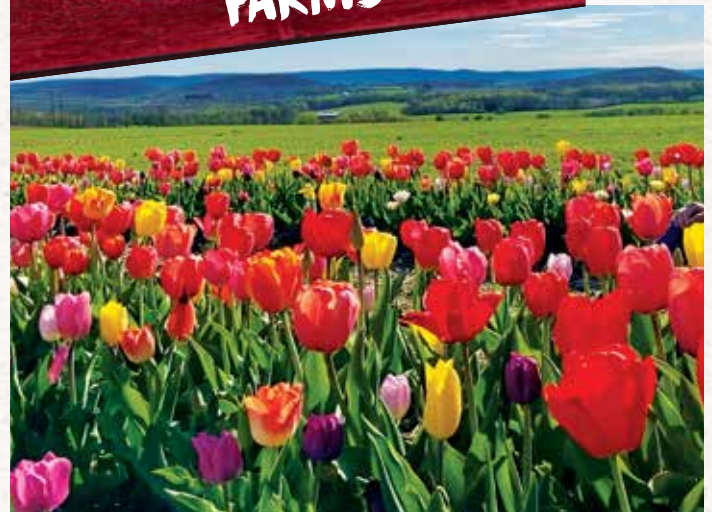

Just remember, Mother Nature can have her own plans. Weather and crop conditions may affect operating hours. Please call or check online before visiting.

BERRIES AND BLOOMS @ HIGH HORIZONS FARM

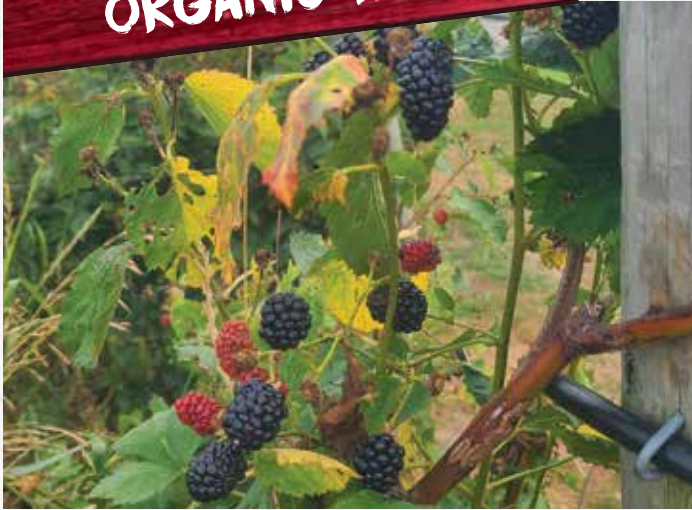

Gather the family and fill your buckets at this pick-your-own blueberry patch in Tunkhannock. The berries are typically ripe by July 1 and continue throughout the month. After a day in the field, stop by the Berry Hut, where you'll find small-batch preserves and refreshments like delicious apple cider slushies. You can also stroll down the lane to see the flower meadow, which is a natural habitat for butterflies.

BROWN HILL FARMS

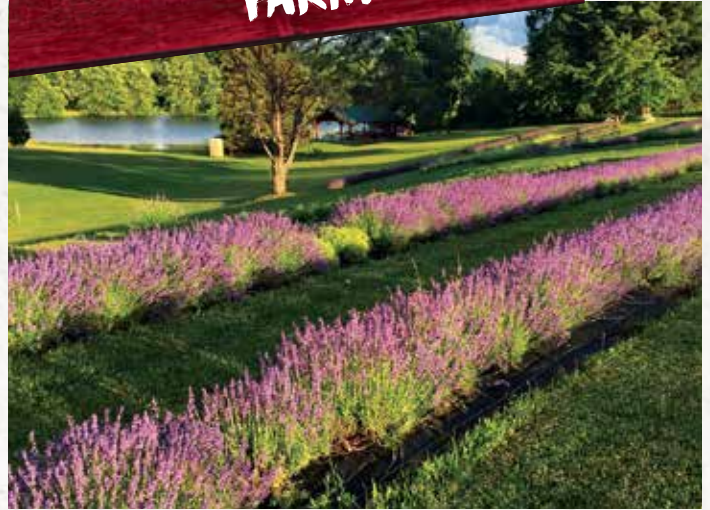

Brown Hill Farms near Tunkhannock offers stunning views that you just have to see to believe. The fun begins in late April or early May when the fields are filled with over 400,000 tulips and 25,000 daffodils. In August, visitors can stroll through the sunflower trail, complete with 30 acres of blooms and a special you-cut field with over 30 varieties of flowers to choose from. New for 2024, they will also offer you-pick vegetables like tomatoes, peppers, cucumbers, and squashes during sunflower season. Finally, September and October bring classic fall fun like pumpkin picking, a corn maze, and wagon rides. Plan to spend the day because Brown Hill offers lots of family activities like play areas for the kids, Instagrammable photo ops, and adorable farm animals (seriously, who can resist those fluffy Highlander cows?).

HENNINGSTEAD ORGANIC FARM

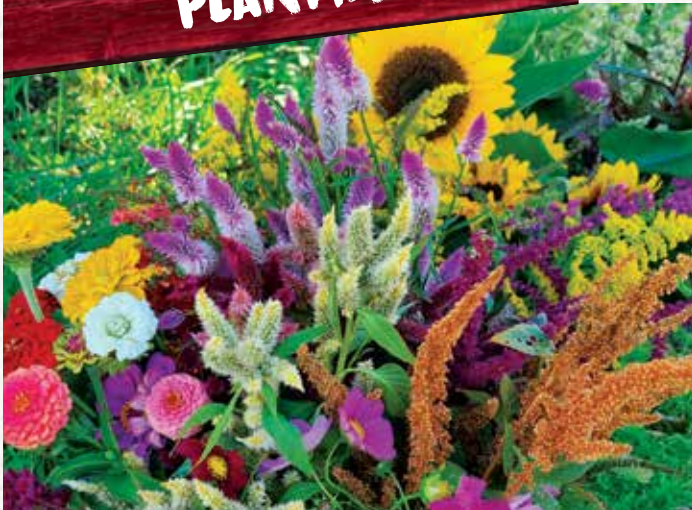

Henningstead Organic Farm in Mehoopany has a long history of farming. In fact, this organic dairy farm has been in the same family since 1847. In the summer, visit the Berry Barn to pick your own raspberries and blackberries. Raspberries are usually ready in mid-July with blackberries following about two weeks after. Prime picking continues through September. While you're there, stock up the farm's own artisanal cheese, honey, and maple syrup.

MOUNTAIN SPRIGS FARM

Sit back and relax at Mountain Sprigs Farm, a lavender farm near Tunkhannock. They typically open in late June or early July when the fields are in full bloom and the sweet, soothing smell of flowers fills the air. Visitors can pick their own stems, enjoy homemade lavender treats, and take in the views. Mountain Sprigs Farm also hosts craft classes, wellness workshops, and other events throughout the season. A pavilion is available for small parties and luncheons.

PATCHWORK PLANTING

Wander through the rows of flowers and create your own bouquet at this family farm in Noxen. Every summer, Patchwork Planting grows gorgeous dahlias, zinnias, sunflowers, and snapdragons, just to name a few. They even offer a you-pick subscription so you can visit several times throughout the season. Flower season normally begins in late July or early August and continues until the first frost.

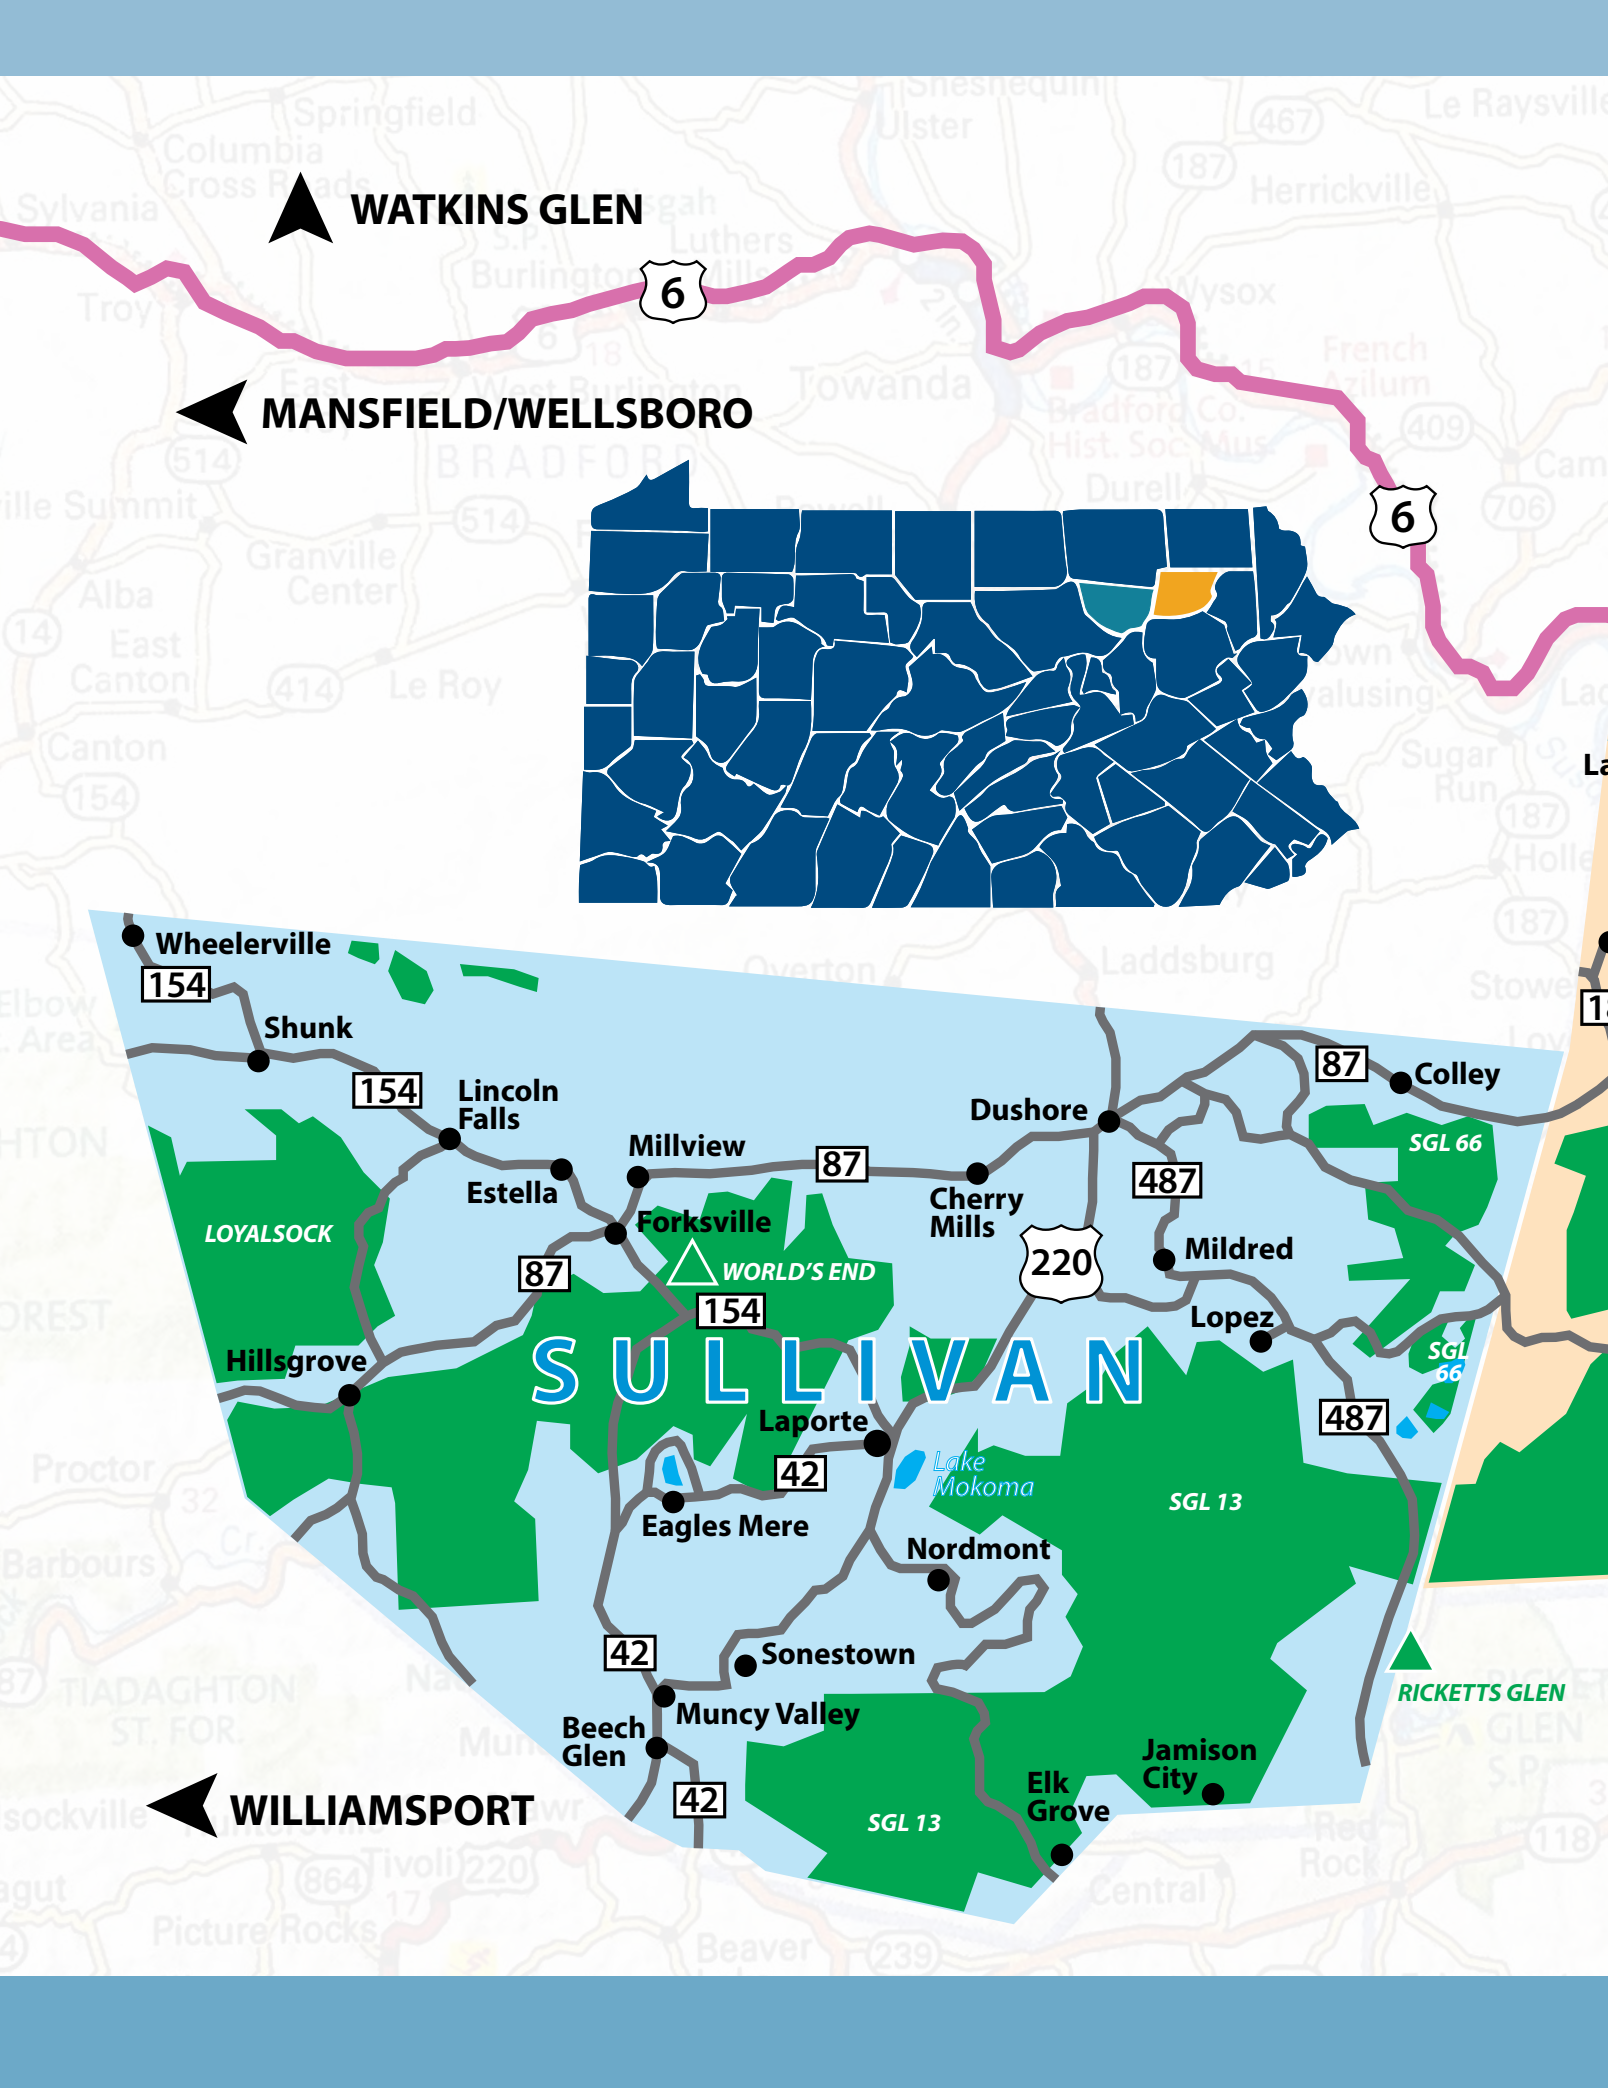

WHISTLE PIG PUMPKIN PATCH

Whistle Pig Pumpkin Patch is a pick-your-own farm nestled between Schooley's Peak and Bowman's Creek in Noxen. In the summer, their berry patches are filled with strawberries, blueberries, raspberries, and blackberries. They also grow you-pick veggies like rhubarb, peppers, and tomatoes. During the fall harvest, the pumpkin patch is open on weekends for pumpkin picking, hayrides, a corn maze, kids' activities, and group outings.

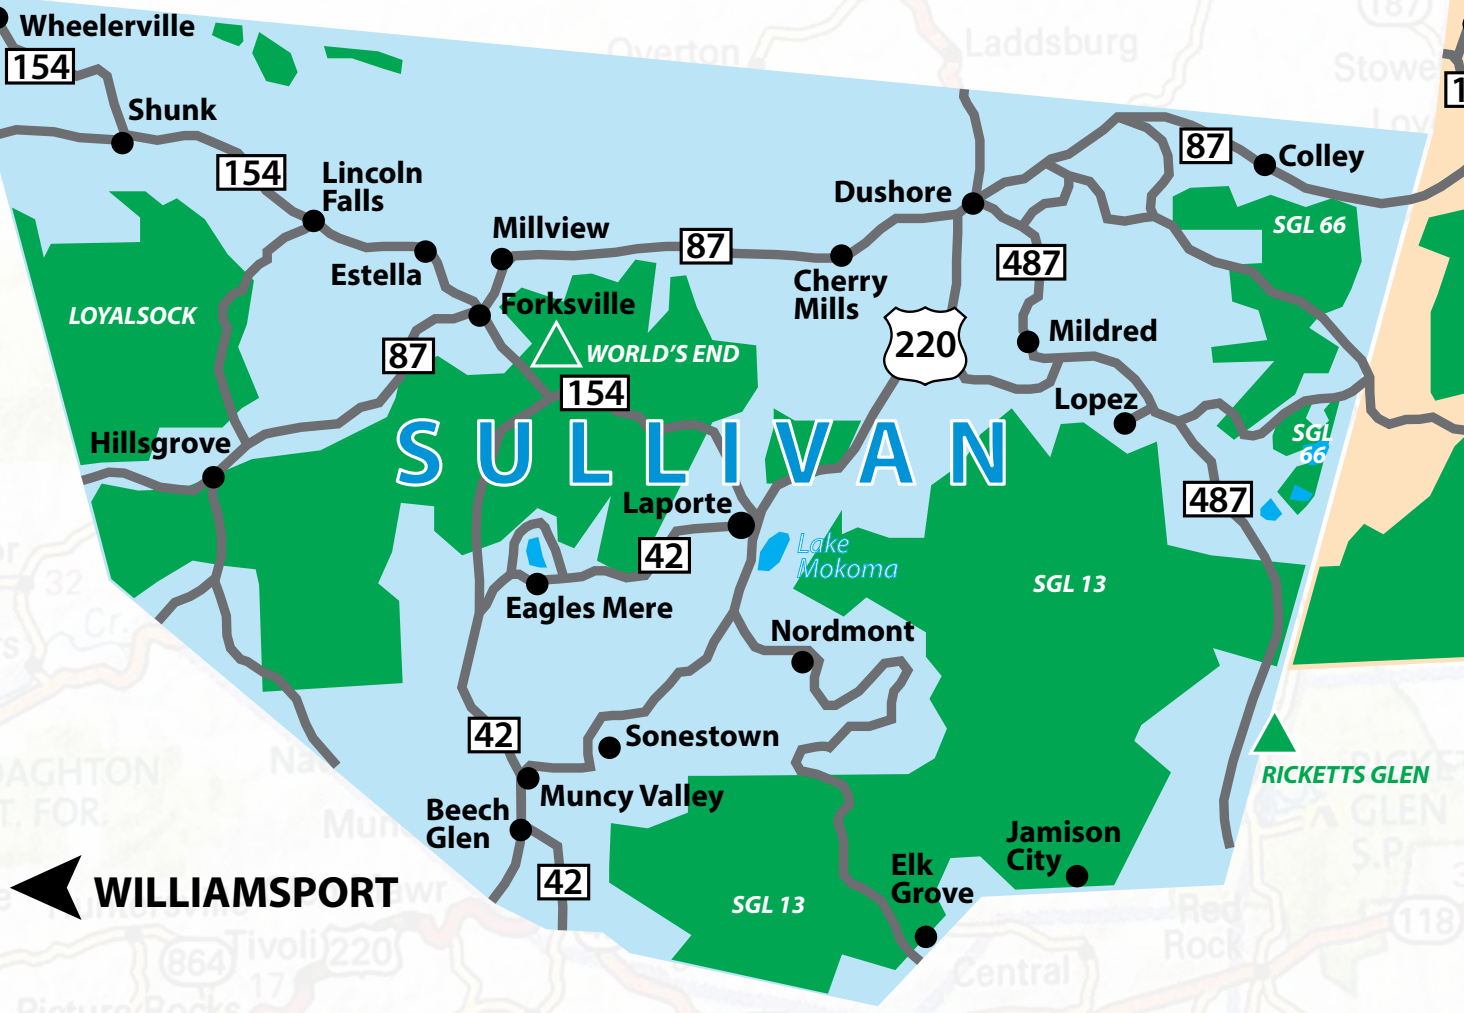

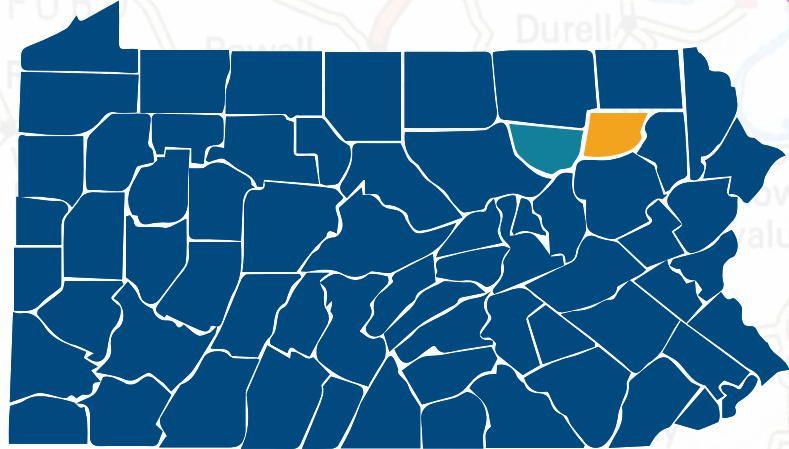

DISCOVER MORE LOCAL FARMS

The Endless Mountains are home to dozens of farm markets and produce stands where you can find fresh, local produce. Check out our Farm to You agritourism guide for a list of locations. You can request a free copy at 570-836-5431 or endlessmountains.org/information-request.

Wyoming County Heart & Soul: Kaleidoscope of Communities

Wyoming County Heart & Soul is excited to share our Action Report. This document is the culmination of more than two years of research in which we asked residents what they love about Wyoming County and their dreams for its future. It celebrates our shared values and provides a roadmap for future community planning.

Scan the QR code or visit wyomingcountyproud.com to view the full report.

TOGETHER, WE CAN TURN OUR COMMUNITY'S VISION INTO REALITY!

What's New in the Endless Mountains

From brand-new businesses to longtime favorites, explore what's opened, expanded, and changed throughout the area.

- 1 CHOCOLATES BY LEOPOLD in Montrose moved into a larger store on the corner of Church and South Main.
- 2 COMFORT INN & SUITES in Tunkhannock received a full remodel for 2024.
- 3 The EAGLES MERE INN boasts a new look complete with a cedar shake exterior, sleek copper roof, and an outdoor bar with a covered patio.
- 4 The ENDLESS MOUNTAINS GRAVEL BIKEPACKING LOOP has been updated to include even more gravel roads and easier access to amenities like lodging and restaurants. If you're up for an adventure, join the Endless Mountains 430 Challenge, a multi-day, self-supported race launching on September 21, 2024.
- 5 FEICK'S VINTAGE FINDS of Meshoppen opened a second store in nearby Muncy, Pennsylvania.
- 6 FRANKLIN'S SMALL TOWN FLOWERS AND GREENHOUSE in Dushore added a new greenhouse where you can find produce, plants, and more.
- 7 HENNINGSTEAD ORGANIC FARM, a family-run dairy farm in Mehoopany, has started making and selling their own artisanal farmstead cheese.
- 8 HILLTOP FARMS MARKETPLACE in Tunkhannock is now open with a delicious selection of farm-fresh meats, dairy, and baked goods, as well as gifts and décor for every season. During the warmer months, they'll open their greenhouse with garden plants and supplies.
- 9 THE LOCAL EMPORIUM CO. in Tunkhannock is a new shop that celebrates craftsmanship at its finest. Browse artisanal treasures, local artwork, and handmade items, all made in Northeastern Pennsylvania. You can even make your own soy wax candle or join one of their creative workshops.
- 10 MECKLEY BROOMS has been making handcrafted brooms for six generations. The tradition continues as they open a retail shop in Lopez in 2024 where customers can purchase handcrafted brooms and join classes and demos.

11 MAIOLATESI WINE CELLARS opened their new tasting room in nearby Scott Township.

Located just south of Tunkhannock, MILLER MOUNTAIN is a stunning 2,500-acre property that became part of the Pinchot State Forest in fall 2023. The mountain is now open to the public for passive recreation such as hiking and birdwatching. See page 4 for more details.

13 THE MAD BAKERS of Dushore, famous for their delicious donuts, coffees, and sandwiches, are opening a second location in Wysox at the former Country Cottage Ice Cream Parlor.

The Nicholson Heritage Association opened the NICHOLSON TOURISM CENTER AT THE HISTORIC DL&W RAILROAD STATION. The beautifully restored building features local history exhibits and views of the Tunkhannock Creek Viaduct. Check out the full story on page 10.

15 SWEET REPEATS THRIFT SHOP moved to a larger location on Bridge Street in Tunkhannock. Sales from the store help fund Interfaith Friends, a private nonprofit that assists Wyoming County residents in need.

16 The Loyalsock Foundation officially opened the SUMMIT LOOP TRAIL at their property in Laporte. This moderate trail is about one mile long and features benches to rest and reflect along the way.

17 T-TOWN BAIT & TACKLE is a new family-run shop in Tunkhannock that offers a full selection of fishing supplies, as well as knives, ammo, apparel, and outdoor gear.

18 UNWIND CAFÉ AND MARKET in Tunkhannock is a new destination coffee, espresso drinks, milk teas, boba, and more. Fresh-baked pastries and light lunch items are perfect for grab-n-go service, while their marketplace is full of local gifts.

19 THE WHITE HOUSE ON WARREN is now available for short-term rentals and event space. This lovingly restored 1850s home is located in the heart of historic downtown Tunkhannock and can accommodate up to ten guests.

20 THE TUNKHANNOCK PUBLIC LIBRARY built an outdoor pavilion, which is available to rent. The pavilion can accommodate up to 250 guests.
